MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT:  Initial Meeting with Director, Office of Emergency Preparedness 6 March 1970

1. On 5 March 1970, I called the Office of the Director (OEP), introduced myself and requested an appointment with General Lincoln. Mr. Heiberg, an assistant to General Lincoln, arranged an appointment for 2:30 pm 6 March and requested that I go to the office of Mr. Robert Bowman, Recording Secretary, IEPC, who would take me in hand and introduce me to General Lincoln.

2. I arrived at Mr. Bowman's office about 2:15, and we chatted for a few minutes before proceeding to General Lincoln's office. Mr. Bowman appeared to be more interested in discussing the art exhibit currently on display on the first floor of their office building than he was in discussing emergency planning. However, we did eventually get around to the work of the IEPC and my role as an "observer" of IEPC from CIA. Mr. Bowman confirmed that there was very little activity in IEPC these days and gave the impression that there would be little change in its very low level of activity. He said there were no meetings scheduled for the immediate future and that he would let me know when the next meeting is to take place. Mr. Bowman indicated that OEP is still in the process of reorganizing and realigning functions. Bowman also said he would be retiring this summer, and there would be many other personnel changes upcoming.

3. At 2:30 we proceeded to General Lincoln's office. I presented Mr. Helm's letter of 3 March and spent about thirty minutes with General Lincoln. Our discussion was very general, I briefed General Lincoln on my background with the Agency, pointing out that I was somewhat of a neophyte in the emergency planning business. I indicated that we were undergoing considerable change in personnel who have emergency planning responsibilities and that all of those involved in this function have primary duties in other areas. We discussed the problems of realistic relocation planning (in the event of thermonuclear war) and General Lincoln agreed that current government-wide efforts in this area are ~~frustrated~~ <sup>marked</sup> with frustrations for lack of funds for hardened relocation sites. General Lincoln observed that he has been highly impressed with CIA's emergency preparedness program and said that if all the other Agencies were as good as ours he would be delighted.

4. After the meeting with General Lincoln, Mr. Bowman introduced me to other personnel in their Plans and Procedure Division (Mr. E. J. Cox and Mr. A. L. Patti). Unfortunately Mr. E. G. Quindlen, Director of Government Preparedness Office, was not in town. Mr. Bowman ended our discussion with an invitation to visit Division). We agreed that I would call later on this month and set up a day for this visit.
